FARM LABORERS

Estimated That 12000 Men Can Find Employment Immediately.

A famine of agricultural labor is facing the farmers of Western Canada at the present time as one of the results of the phenomenal rapid development of the country. Despite the heavy immigration, the shortage seems to be increasing rather than diminishing, as very many of the new comers at once locate on homesteads of their own and in a short time become themselves employers of labor. Heretofore many of the farmers have depended upon the Dominion Government immigration officials to supply their requirements for experienced and inexperienced help, but so acute is the situation this year that it is far beyond the resources of the department to cope with it.

Saturday the commissioner of immigration estimates from letters on file in his office, that no less than 7000 farm hands are urgently required in the three prairie provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and figuring on a comparative basis, it is probable that 10,000 or even 12,000 can find immediate employment. The shortage is most acute in Manitoba and is least felt in Alberta as that province has not yet reached the same stage of agricultural development as the other prairie provinces. Hundreds of men have been sent out but they seem to have been swallowed up without appreciably reducing the demand.

WHERE MEN ARE WANTED

According to the files of the immigration department many of the smaller towns and centres have sent in requests for from 20 to 1,000 men. A list of 24 of these places, picked at random, give the following as their requirements, as vouched for by boards of trade and government or railroad officials:

Mortlach	30
Viscount	10
Waubesa	20
Milestone	100
Oroania	25
Oak River	20
Portia	200
Reston	80
Brandon	1000
Virden	400
Hanley	100
Legal	250
Spring Coulee	120
Settler	100
Greenfell	20
Probiar	35
Weyburn	50
Alameda	50
Crystal City	30
Paynton	25
Pilot Mound	125
Pincher Creek	125
Regina	150
Indian Head	300
Carstairs	250
Macoun	100
Moose Jaw	200
Walsh	200

In connection with these statistics, it might be mentioned that the immigration officer at Virden estimates that nearer 1000 than 400 men will be required there. He also has openings for 50 married couples without children, all of whom can secure immediate employment.

SCALE OF WAGES

Wages are correspondingly high for the class of labor in demand. The majority of farmers prefer to secure their labor on yearly contract, though many of them hire

Varlow Was Prime Mover

Fernie, B. C., April 6.—Fred Varlow, the provincial constable implicated in the Coal Creek hold-up on Feb. 19th, admitted in bail yesterday, was rearrested last evening. He was given preliminary hearing today. The two Belanger brothers in the witness box today gave evidence against Varlow, both gave straight-forward tales, stating that Varlow was the prime-mover all through, and the original instigator of the scheme. Fred Belanger was subjected to a severe cross-examination by W. R. Rose, Varlow's counsel, but maintained his statement that Varlow was the originator and prime-mover. He said Varlow first spoke to him about 12 months ago and urged him to take on the job but he did not do so.

John Belanger stated that he went to Coal Creek on the pay day previous to February 19, when the job was done on January 16, to take over the job but did not come off as he was single handed. Varlow stated that he would give him the signal of the men coming out of the store from the jail window, where he would be, by lighting a match. He gave full details of the hold-up.

Emigrants Stranded

London, April 7.—Last year 85,946 British immigrants went to Canada, 1,99,654 to the U. S. and 27,138 to Australia. In 1909, Africa and 1,500 to New Zealand, an increase in every case except the last.

R. C. A. Butler, chairman of the emigrants' information offices, reports that undoubtedly there is a feeling in Canada that many English emigrants are not at first successful in conforming to the requirements of a new country and are suffering from lack of adaptability.

Sir George Reid, high commissioner for Australia in London, intends starting a great immigration campaign in the autumn, paying special attention to men with money.

In consequence of an alleged misarrangement on the part of the continental agents, 800 European emigrants bound for Canada and the United States are stranded in London, hungry and helpless. Representations have been made to the home office.

Inexperienced men command a wage running from $150 to $180 per annum with everything found except their clothing. Married couples, for whom there are openings for at least 400, find with the commissioner of immigration at Winnipeg, can command a salary of from $350 to $400 per year, but of course experienced farm laborers are preferred in all cases.—Free Press.

FISHERIES CASE

Notable Assembly to Decide Issues of Grave Importance

Washington, April 6.—An array of counsel, greater in number and more illustrious in reputation than ever before assembled at The Hague to engage in the trial of a special case, has been retained to represent Great Britain and the United States in the determination of what is undoubtedly the most important issue ever presented to the great peace tribunal.

Technically this is the determination of differences which have arisen between the two governments as to the true intent of the provisions of article 1, of the treaty of 1819, defining the fishing rights of Canadians and Americans in their respective waters. The issue of greatest importance is the determination of a right of a colony or province, such as Canada or Newfoundland, by local legislation to deprive persons of rights conferred by treaty between principals.

On June 1st, next, the arbitration tribunal is to meet at The Hague to hear the oral arguments. The arbitration court will consist of Dr. Heinrich Lammasch, of Austria, umpire who will act as president; Luis M. Drago, Argentine Republic; Jhrkheer A. F. De Savornin Lohmann, the Netherlands; Judge George Gray, of Delaware; and Sir Charles Fitzgibbon, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The agent of Great Britain in this arbitration is the Hon. A. B. Aylsworth, Minister of Justice of Canada. The counsel for the part of Great Britain are the Right Hon. Sir William Robinson, K. C., Attorney General of England; the Right Hon. Sir Robert Finlay, K. C., former Attorney-General of England; Sir H. Erle Richards, K. C. On the part of Canada: John S. Ewart, K. C.; George Shepley, K. C.; W. N. Tilley, and on the part of Newfoundland, the Hon. Sir Edward Morris, K. C., Premier of Newfoundland; the Hon. Sir James Winter, K. C., formerly attorney-general of Newfoundland; D. Morrison, K. C., Attorney-General of Newfoundland. The solicitors are Messrs. Blake and Redden.

The agent of the United States is Chandler P. Anderson. The United States counsel are Senator Elihu Root, George Turner, and Samuel J. Elder, and the associate counsel are James Brown Scott, solicitor for the Department of State; Charles D. Gordon and Robert Dansing.

The general sympathetic strike in Philadelphia is a thing of the past. The unions which quit work out of sympathy with the striking carmen are preparing to resume work today.

A meeting of the Central Labor union will be held tomorrow at which the sympathetic strike will be called off. Many union workers have returned to work. Leaders of the striking carmen stated today that the car strike would be continued all summer unless the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company receded from its position. The company claims that its service is improving daily.

Brief News Notes

Canada House is the name of a trade information office which has been established in Berlin and which is intended to aid the development of trade between the Dominion and the German empire.

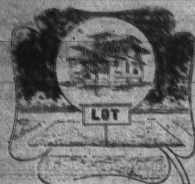

Four carloads of goods, valued at about $12,000 and entered as settler's effects, were seized by the Canadian customs authorities at Gretna last week. It is alleged that the shipper at Duluth was endeavoring to defraud the customs.

At the annual meeting of the transfer committee of the Methodist church of Canada, held at Toronto on April 7th, 1910, clergymen were given transfers from other provinces, (including Newfoundland,) to Alberta.

The array of counsel at the Hague to argue out the Newfoundland question will compare favorably in number and ability with the legal lights that will thrash out the Great Waterways deal at Edmonton.—Lethbridge Herald.

Active Militia

The government has decided to establish a squadron of mounted police in the district of Pincher Creek,

Alberta, which is considered the best and most convenient location in this section. An appeal is being made through newspapers and other means to reach all through Alberta who would feel disposed to assist or join the militia for training, etc., and it is to be hoped that the present effort on the part of the government will meet with substantial approval.

All through Southern Alberta are scattered ex-members of Canadian militia, who should be glad of the opportunity of rejoining or using their influence towards encouraging others to enlist. There will be no difficulty in supplying horses for any men in the district who have not saddle horses of their own. The following is clipped from the Pincher

Creek Echo:

"Recruits wanted for the Pincher

Creek squadron. Training commences June 14th at Calgary.

The establishment of a squadron of mounted rifles at Pincher Creek

has been authorized and the enrollment of the men has been commenced. Some thirty are already on the rolls. It is hoped that the squadron can be taken into camp in full strength. The officers will gladly receive applications for enrollment, which may be made to any officer, either Major Kemmis,

Capt. J. E. Wright, or to Messrs.

Ormond, Gordon or Buchanan at Pincher Creek, Alta.

The rate of pay commences at 50 cents per day, with 20 cents to 50 cents efficiency pay, and $1.00 per day for horses.

The equipment supplied is very full, consisting of uniform, great coat, saddle, rifle, etc., all the individual has to supply being

Stetson hat and black walking boots.

The time of training commences

on June 14th and lasts 12 days.

The camp will be at Calgary; a brigade camp at which there will be some 2000 men cavalry, artillery and infantry.

Those wishing to enroll, who have not saddle horses of their own, need not be deterred on that account, as horses can be provided for them.

Any information will be gladly furnished those wishing to join by any of the officers."

Birthday Party

The Rangers held another very successful banquet at Coleman on Tuesday night last, it being the birthday of the genial job manager,

Mr. F. J. Kirkpatrick. A large number of his intimate friends gathered at the Miner office, where was prepared a grand outlay to quench the desire of the inner

man. The chair of the evening was occupied by Mr. R. L. Uden,

representative of the Winnipeg

Saturday Post, and the toasts which occupied a main part of the programme, were delicious of comment and applause. Many congratulatory remarks were made upon the past career of the guest and best wishes offered for still

many, many years and happier

birthdays. The woman suffrage question was ably dealt with by several of the speakers and the hope expressed that the several planks in the leader's platform

would be strengthened and maintained in the coming election. A vote of thanks was accorded the chairman for the able manner in which he conducted the duties of his office, which vote was very abundantly responded to by Mr. Uden, who expressed his great pleasure

at being one of a party so representative of the different provinces of the Dominion. Among those present were friends representing

Pincher Creek, Macleod, Midnapore,

Gazette, Fernie, Winnipeg, Away

Down East, and last but not least the Sanitarium Hotel. The latter part of the programme was made up of songs and recitations, the former being supplied accompaniment by Mr. Kirkpatrick on his new harmonium.

"He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and

"Auld Lang Syne" broke an echo

into the quiet morning hours,

when all dispersed, voting the evening the most enjoyable in the history of the Ranger's social gatherings.

The Passburg Hotel

The new Passburg Hotel, opened

last week, is a valuable addition to the list of hotel-ier of the Crow's Nest Pass. The site on which the building is located is a most desirable one, commanding a view of the beautiful formation of the foothills as well as the snow-clad

Rockies' peaks in the background and the prairie in the fore. The hotel is completed throughout and only needs painting of the exterior

to make it show to its full advan-

age. The house contains some twenty-three large bright bedrooms, large halls, fine dining and smoking rooms, all equipped with the most up-to-date furnishings and everything else that would spell

for the convenience and comfort of visitors. Mr. Duncan has recently secured a license and the bar is one of the best stocked in the Pass.

But a few minutes drive from the noted flows the Old Man river, and several splendid fishing pools are within easy access. The proprietor intends to make a specialty of catering to the wants of fishing parties, and being well acquainted with the stream, should meet with the approval and support of all</

His Courtship.

Both the girls regarded him anxiously, but the stability of his face was reassuring.

"Pete," said Daisy frankly, "sometimes I have a suspicion that you're faking us, and you're just a fellow who's got any news in your letter from Belle."

"News? Well, I should say! Don't you think the Civil club in its prospects for next winter's work has gone and put me down for a paper?"

Constitution was in her face and voice. Georgiana smiled.

"About what?"

"A theme on which I can't possibly ask uncle to write the paper for me. The Red Effect Upon the Moral of the Community of the Autumn Displays of Underwear in the Department Store Windows, Especially the Flashes of Women in Nightgowns."

"The Admirability of the Civil Club's Requesting the Removal of Such Demoralizing Displays? That's my subject."

"If they look at the matter from a higher plane," said Georgiana, "they would see that it is their own minds that need to be regenerated rather than the shop windows."

"Let me take that down," cried Daisy. "That shall be my opening sentence. I shall also suggest," she went on as she wrote, "as a preventive or preventative, which is it? of so many unhappy marriages, that in place of the exhibit of women in nightgowns they display a windowful of men in their pajamas. The preachers wouldn't have any job then!"

"You would better let me edit your paper before you stand up and read it to the club," Georgiana advised. "Does Belle write anything else?"

"Every one is out of town, she says, and there's nothing doing, and she says she can hardly wait until you come back and meet that new professor of psychology. Oh!" exclaimed Daisy, with a little squint of delight.

Kirosa.

"Which of course he will," said Daisy dogmatically. "For you've not like the other girls—you're on a higher plane."

"And so in he," said Georgiana lightly, accepting Daisy's tribute complacently.

"Perhaps," Daisy reluctantly conceded, "but he must be perfectly happy."

in whatever.

"I think they don't always understand themselves," Mrs. Morningstar said. "Now, think! Poor people, too, they don't know what they're doing."

And, educated people's the same," she repeated in surprise.

Kirosa at this moment caught a glimpse through the window of the shop where the girls were.

"Here's my chance," he thought, rising from the porch steps.

"Say, Doc," Mrs. Morningstar stopped him, "if these girls ever light on the joke you're playing on 'em, pre-tend to be common like us when you're as good as ourselves. I make no doubt they won't like it, Doc."

"I agree with you, Mrs. Morningstar. They won't like it."

"Suppose they meet you in town there some time in your dude class?" she said apprehensively. "To be sure, there's so many that lives in town it ain't likely you will run across each other."

"It's not merely likely, Mrs. Morningstar. They simply can't escape me."

"Not," she cried. "Well, guess you'll feel pretty cheap."

"It is they who will feel expensive, Mrs. Morningstar. They'll be ready to sell themselves for half price on the bargain counter."

He left her to puzzle over the problem as he turned away and went into the kitchen.

But the moment's delay had lost him his chance. Eunice had left the room by one door just as he was entering by the other.

The Alpinist Tripler.

The symptoms of the alpinist tripler are muscular tremblings and a marked decline of strength, the hair begins to drop out, the face takes on a despairing look, and he soon becomes wrinkled and sallow. Lesion of the brain follows, horrible dreams come thick and fast, and gradually a paralysis takes him to the grave.

In "Life and Death on the Pacific Coast" Horace A. Vachell relates one of his narrow escapes from a friend's bullet.

"My cousin and I had been hunting a few days in the mountains in a sort of paralytic valley. One day during a long ride on horseback we had seen a great many rattlesnakes and killed a few on occasional expeditions. That night my cousin woke up and saw by the light of the moon a big rattlesnake crawling across my chest."

"He lay for a moment paralyzed, then he sprang up, watching the sinuous curves of the reptile. Then he quietly reached for his shotgun, but he could not reach it, and he lay there, watching the sinuous curves of the reptile. Then he quietly reached for his shotgun, but he could not

The local business man who does not see wisdom of patronizing the advertising columns of the local paper, which is devoted to the enterprise and development of the town, is not deserving of public patronage. Our readers are directed to our advertisers, and by patronizing their trade they help us and benefit the town.

LILLE NOTES

M. Kastcourt, provincial mine inspector from Calgary, visited the mines at Hillcrest Wednesday and came here in the afternoon.

A sudden death occurred here on Wednesday. Alex. Cupido, a miner, came off a bit ill and died instantly. The doctor was called and upon examination pronounced death due to natural causes. No inquiry will be held. The funeral will take place at the Blairmore cemetery on Friday.

On Saturday last another name was added to the death roll of the Pass mines, when Thomas Polidoro working in No. 3 chute here, became smothered through coal falling in and choking the chute. Dr. Snyder held a post mortem examination and pronounced death due to suffocation. A coroner's inquest was held and a corresponding verdict returned. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon at the Blairmore cemetery and was largely attended.
